

- 10 -

ABSTRACT

A disc speed control device for use in a disc player and/or recorder having a pick-up for reading / recording data comprises an inner loop which regulates a determined disc rotation speed value received at its input and an outer loop which delivers this speed value depending on a frequency at which data is read by the pick-up.